Care and Maintenance of Copper Art Pieces Being Hung Outdoors

The vast majority of Copper Art products are designed using stainless steel or aluminum. Most items (with the exception of music and lifestyle pieces) are very durable outside under roof as long as there is no direct exposure to water. While your new sculpture is already designed for long life outdoors under roof, we highly recommend additional protective measures be taken for outdoor use. This is especially important near salt water environments.

When hanging on a patio or lanai we recommend the application of a premium wax, such as car or boat wax. This wax should be applied prior to hanging outdoors and re-applied every 6 – 12 months utilizing the steps below under maintenance. A good example of a wax that works quite well is Meguiars Carnauba Wax which, is sold at most auto stores. Please do not use waxes that contain cleaners (such as boat “cleaner/wax”) as these will damage the surface.

Prep-for outdoor under roof:

1. Wipe product with a dry soft towel or microfiber cloth in order to remove any dust particles that could scratch the surface during the waxing process.
2. Using a soft towel or micro fiber cloth, liberally apply wax to the front surfaces and edges of the piece.
3. Let dry according to directions on container and remove the wax with a clean microfiber or soft towel.

Routine Maintenance:

1. Remove piece from wall and lay on cardboard, towel or other nonabrasive surface to avoid damaging or scratching the surface coating.
2. Wipe with a damp soft rag or micro fiber cloth until clean, then allow some time to dry or re-wipe with a dry cloth.
3. Follow waxing instructions as outlined under prep-for outdoor above.

Care and Maintenance

Copper Art’s products are designed for a long lifetime of enjoyment, and *most items are very durable outside under a roof if there is no direct exposure to water.

If you plan on displaying your Copper Art piece outdoors where it may come into contact with moisture, we highly recommend taking an extra step to protect your new sculpture. This is especially important in saltwater environments.

Nyalic is a clear surface protectant that will prevent water from damaging your sculpture. We recommend applying a single, even coat once every 18 to 36 months to keep your Copper Art piece looking like new. A single aerosol can of Nyalic is enough for several applications, depending on the size of your sculpture. Follow the directions on the can for application instructions.
